Steel Report Good. The one important event of the week

The improvement in commercial and industrial prospects is also reflected in the increased volume of new orders received by the Steel Corporation and by the enlargement of general railroad earnings. What other construction than a favorable one can be placed upon such great increment of gross and net revenue as were made last week for the month of March and for the first three weeks of April in the case of every important railway line of the country, and how can it be maintained, in view of this fact and of the continually rising bank exchanges in every section, and not alone in New York, where it might be said that Wall street speculation has swollen the volume, that there is not abundant witness of an expanding business?

Upset in Turkey.

ause it was looked upon as a new birth of the Turkish empire; and while the new budget proposals in England were viewed with dismay naturally by the taxpayers there, these did not affect the financial market unfavorably, because they entailed no new issues of government se In a broad sense, the weight of taxation under which the English people are now veritably groaning may accomplish the useful purpose of placing a check upon the excessive and what seems to people any other people, can have their cake and eat it. They cannot spend hundreds of millions upon Dreadnoughts and old age pensions and still keep the money in their pockets. While it may be tiking a narrow view of the case, it would eem as if the new taxes would stimulate English investment in securities out side of England, and by reason of the heavier cost of transferring securities as
